Seminar 116: Dimensional Metrology: Measurement, Inspection and Calibration

Seminar 216: Dimensional Metrology for the Quality Professional (Level 2)

Dimensional metrology – the science and practice of dimensional measurement – is the fundamental educational series of the Mitutoyo Institute of Metrology. The full curriculum consists of (1) free online educational material, (2) the 2-day classroom course Dimensional Metrology: Measurement, Inspection, and Calibration, and (3) the 1-day classroom course Dimensional Metrology for the Quality Professional.

Our Dimensional Metrology curriculum is intended for anyone who wishes to learn about dimensional measuring equipment and strategies for implementation. The modern curriculum gives equal treatment to all measuring equipment, from calipers to gage blocks to multi-sensor CMMs. The courses are taught from a “Measurement Planning” perspective and cover aspects of selection, application, calibration, and care of dimensional measuring systems. Principles and practice are taught with a hands-on experiential learning approach to engage the students and promote retention of the concepts.

Prerequisites: Students are encouraged to start with the free online resources to establish base knowledge to ensure a successful classroom experience. The On-Demand education resources at www.mitutoyo.com/on-demand include a section on Fundamental Education Resources which should be studied prior to attended class. The resources available through On-Demand education are available anytime to anyone (registration required for some content.) Successful completion of Seminar 116 is necessary to attend Seminar 216.

Course Materials: The Metrology Handbook (2nd ed.), a 280 page, full color reference book written by Nobuo Suga of the Mitutoyo Institute of Metrology, is included with these courses. Additional materials will be provided in class.
